

Oxford County Advertiser.

VOL. 57. NEW SERIES XIV.

NORWAY AND SOUTH PARIS, ME., FRIDAY, JUNE 1, 1883.

NO. 22.

Oxford County Advertiser.

P. W. SANBORN, Proprietor.

TERMS: $2.00 per year. When paid in advance $1.00. If not paid in advance the county must be paid for in advance.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS, ETC.

PRELIMINARY HOWE.

Insurance and Real Estate Agent.

NORWAY, ME.

G. P. JONES.

DENTIST.

NORWAY, ME.

Dr. J. W. DAVIS.

DENTIST.

SOUTH PARIS, ME.

Office over Savings Bank. All work warranted.

HENRY UPTON.

Attorney and Counselor at Law.

Office near F. Howe's Insurance Office.

HOLT & KIMBALL.

Attorneys and Counselors at Law.

Office in Savings Bank Building, Main St.

CHARLES E. HOYT.

Attorney and Counselor at Law.

Office in Savings Bank Building, Main St.

WILSON & GREENLEAF.

Attorneys at Law.

Office in Savings Bank Building, Main St.

G. A. WILSON.

Physician and Surgeon.

Particular attention paid to diseases of the Eye and Ear.

T. S. TURNER, M.D.

Homeopathic.

Office in the rooms recently occupied by the National Bank. Office hours, 8 to 10 a.m. and 7 to 9 p.m.

FRANK H. TILDEN, M.D.

Physician and Surgeon.

Office and residence on Cottage Street.

Office hours, 12 m. to 2 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m.

C. L. PIKE, M.D.

Physician and Surgeon.

Residence and Office at Dr. Bradbury's last stand, Main Street.

B. K. BRADBURY, M.D.

Physician and Surgeon.

Residence opposite Norway Hall. Office in Norway Savings Bank.

NORWAY SAVINGS BANK.

Main Street, Norway, Me.

Money to loan on good security, at reasonable rates.

ROBERT NORTON, Pres't. H. M. BRADLEY, Treas'r.

J. T. ROWE.

New Hair Dressing Rooms.

Clean Shave and Stylish Cut.

GET YOUR MILK DAILY.

Benjamin Tucker's MILK CART!

Good Milk and Honest Measure.

In want of milk, speak to the driver.

ELM HOUSE.

W. W. WHITMARSH, PROPRIETOR.

Norway, Me.

Good Stable connected with the house.

Geo. H. Small.

HOUSE AND SIGN PAINTER.

SHOP ON BRIDGE STREET.

Opposite the Armory, Job Printing Office.

NORWAY, ME.

Special Notice!

T. G. GOODWIN.

Respectfully informs the public that he keeps on hand the needed assortment of

Burial Caskets,

which includes VELVET, CLOTH, and GRAPE covered.

Also—

Undertakers' Supplies!

Old Stand, Main St., near Academy.

NORWAY, ME.

JAMES GRANT.

Painter of Carriages, Sleighs

WAGONS, ETC.

All work done in the most skillful and reasonable manner.

Office over J. C. Bennett & Co.

J. C. BENNETT & CO.

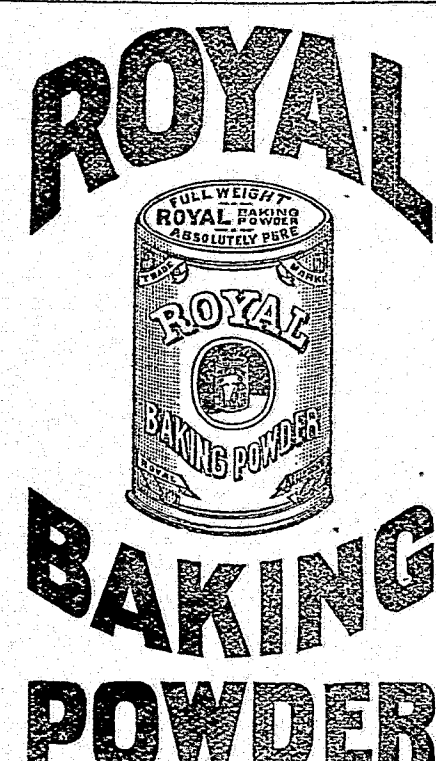

Beef, Pork, Lamb, Sausages,

Meats of all kinds.

NORWAY.

C. S. TUCKER.

Sells Carriage Bumpers and Mats

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kind, and cannot be sold in competition with the adulterated low test, short weight, dunn or phosphate powders.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 115 WALL ST., N. Y.

NORWAY BAKERY!

C. E. Rines.

Baker and Proprietor.

Hot Rolls, White and Brown Bread,

Cakes and Pastry.

EVERYTHING FRESH AND NICE.

The Cart will run through Norway and South Paris Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons. The team will collect boxes for baking Saturday afternoon. If in want of anything, speak to the Driver.

O. M. CUMMINGS.

Livery and Feed Stable.

NORWAY, ME.

Proprietor of Gipsy Queen.

Passengers conveyed to adjoining towns at reasonable rates.

Stable on Danforth Street.

Farm for Sale!

The subscriber offers for sale, the Norway Farm, situated on School St. No. 4, Norway, Me. Said Farm contains 72 acres, well divided into tillage pasture, and woodland. A rare chance to obtain a good farm, in a good neighborhood, at a reasonable price.

For terms, etc., inquire of L. C. Hobbs, Norway, Me., or address the subscriber, at W. F. Frost.

WM. E. FROST.

DENNIS PIKE.

Manufacturer and Dealer in

HARD AND SOFT SOAP.

Factory on Paris Street, Norway.

"Ashes and Grease taken in exchange for Soap. If in want of Soap, speak to Mr. Pike, or drop him a postal card, and you will be promptly served."

WM. A. EMERY.

Dealer in Ancient Clocks.

OXFORD, MAINE.

Time-worn and defunct Clocks and Cases repaired in a neat and workmanlike manner. All work warranted.

THE CATHOLIC CLERGY OF MONTREAL have issued a pastoral letter urging the Irish people not to affiliate with the Irish National League.

The officers of the League have been indicted at Philadelphia for a violation of the neutrality laws.

The vicinity of Tinsville, Pa., was visited by a heavy rain storm, causing damage to railroads by landslides, etc., and consequent interruption to travel.

An extensive forest fire at Groton Pond, Vt., destroyed two railroad depots, a large lumber mill and several houses.

Prayers for the repose of the souls of the Phoenix Park assassins were offered at Toronto, Ont.

A political feud between readjusters and straight-out republicans in Jerusalem, Va., resulted in the killing of John L. Newsum by Slade Lewis.

A violent storm on Lake Michigan resulted in numerous disasters to shipping and the loss of several lives, including that of a woman who was washed overboard. The girl was also felt on Lakes Ontario and Erie.

A "New and Improved" route, a husband and father whose domestic reputation had become very offensive, was tarred and feathered at midnight by his neighbors and driven from the place.

Ten Chinamen accused of gambling were discharged by the police at New York who arrested them could not decide the game they were playing.

The Crow Indians are to be removed to the valley of the Little Big Horn River in Montana.

Lieutenant Garlington's expedition to Lady Franklin Bay to relieve Lieutenant Greely will leave New York June 7th.

Governor Cleveland, of New York, refused his signature to the Page bill to allow savings banks to invest in miscellaneous securities.

Destructive forest fires took place in New Hampshire and Vermont.

At Norfolk, Va., the steamer Cycnet was totally destroyed by fire while lying at her dock.

A flood in Dakota washed away a considerable portion of Deadwood, besides doing damage to other towns and crops in that section, the total amount of which is estimated at millions of dollars.

Over seventy houses in Deadwood were washed away and the loss is said to be over $600,000.

An old man while walking on a trestle near Trenton, N. J., was decapitated by a train which struck him.

Two driver boys who entered an old mine near Wilkesbarre, Pa., were killed by the explosion caused by their naked lights.

The village of Nuenktschen, Germany, was totally destroyed by fire on Monday. Even the fruit trees and the wooden crosses in the churchyard were burned. The entire population, numbering 1,300, is rendered homeless.

GRAVE STONES.

We are located on Lynn St., and have the largest and best stock of

MEMORIAL WORKS

to be found in this section. If in want, call on

FULL LINE OF

COFFINS, CASKETS

Under the Material.

constant supply.

J. A. HOLSTER & SONS.

Lynn Street, near shoe factory.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

GENERAL ITEMS.

An express messenger was adversely robbed at Cleveland, Ohio, recently.

A Dr. Moore, while under the influence of liquor, entered the Circuit Court at Helena, Ark., and shot at and wounded Judge Saunders.

The Captain and first officer of the steamer Tropic were convicted in the United States Court at Philadelphia of a violation of the neutrality laws in having landed armed men and munitions of war at a Haytian port.

In St. Clair County, Illinois, the striking coal miners have paraded the streets in hundreds, armed with clubs, and have assaulted and driven away non-strikers. The Governor has been appealed to by the mine owners for assistance.

Helena, Ark., has succeeded in compromising her debt at fifty cents on the dollar.

A man suffered a horrible death through being drawn feet foremost between the rolls in an iron mill at Rome, N. Y.

Greenview, a small town at the terminus of the Fulton branch of the Pacific Railroad, was almost completely swept away by fire. Thirty buildings were destroyed, including the railway station.

Fifty thousand pupils and 2,000 teachers of the Brooklyn Sunday School Union celebrated their 54th anniversary on Wednesday with singing, prayer, parades, and picnics.

A special from Catlettsburg, Ky., says that two distinct shocks of earthquake were felt there Wednesday, which shook the buildings in the town.

The Baptist Council at Saratoga, N. Y., in which five hundred clergymen participated, abolished the American and Foreign Bible Society and authorized the issue of a Baptist Bible from the publication house in Philadelphia.

The place of holding the colored convention called for September next has been changed from Washington to Louisville, Ky.

Pleur-pneumonia has appeared among cattle in the vicinity of Washington.

Matthew Arbuckle, the celebrated cornet player and bandmaster, died in New York on Wednesday.

The trustees of Williams College received a check for $50,000 from D. German, of Albany, to found a professorship of natural theology in memory of his deceased son, who was a student in Williams College.

The Presbyterian General Assembly at Saratoga charges the government Indian agents with so much wrong-doing and injustice to the red men as to prevent the work of gospel missions.

The Grand Lodge of Good Templars, meeting in Chicago, authorized the procuring liquor prohibition enactments in the several States.

About two o'clock Tuesday morning a man was discovered endeavoring to force his way into the residence of the British Minister at Washington. He was arrested and taken to the station house, where he gave his name as William Looney, and said he was sixty-two years of age and a native of Ireland.

Upon examination the man appeared to be insane, and the station house officers say that he has been removed to the insane asylum.

The Catholic clergy of Montreal have issued a pastoral letter urging the Irish people not to affiliate with the Irish National League.

The officers of the League have been indicted at Philadelphia for a violation of the neutrality laws.

The vicinity of Tinsville, Pa., was visited by a heavy rain storm, causing damage to railroads by landslides, etc., and consequent interruption to travel.

An extensive forest fire at Groton Pond, Vt., destroyed two railroad depots, a large lumber mill and several houses.

Prayers for the repose of the souls of the Phoenix Park assassins were offered at Toronto, Ont.

A political feud between readjusters and straight-out republicans in Jerusalem, Va., resulted in the killing of John L. Newsum by Slade Lewis.

A violent storm on Lake Michigan resulted in numerous disasters to shipping and the loss of several lives, including that of a woman who was washed overboard. The girl was also felt on Lakes Ontario and Erie.

A "New and Improved" route, a husband and father whose domestic reputation had become very offensive, was tarred and feathered at midnight by his neighbors and driven from the place.

Ten Chinamen accused of gambling were discharged by the police at New York who arrested them could not decide the game they were playing.

The Crow Indians are to be removed to the valley of the Little Big Horn River in Montana.

Lieutenant Garlington's expedition to Lady Franklin Bay to relieve Lieutenant Greely will leave New York June 7th.

Governor Cleveland, of New York, refused his signature to the Page bill to allow savings banks to invest in miscellaneous securities.

Destructive forest fires took place in New Hampshire and Vermont.

At Norfolk, Va., the steamer Cycnet was totally destroyed by fire while lying at her dock.

A flood in Dakota washed away a considerable portion of Deadwood, besides doing damage to other towns and crops in that section, the total amount of which is estimated at millions of dollars.

Over seventy houses in Deadwood were washed away and the loss is said to be over $600,000.

An old man while walking on a trestle near Trenton, N. J., was decapitated by a train which struck him.

Two driver boys who entered an old mine near Wilkesbarre, Pa., were killed by the explosion caused by their naked lights.

The village of Nuenktschen, Germany, was totally destroyed by fire on Monday. Even the fruit trees and the wooden crosses in the churchyard were burned. The entire population, numbering 1,300, is rendered homeless.

The five Chinamen and two white women arrested for smoking opium in the Chinese opium dens in New York City, owing to insufficient evidence.

The jury in the case of Jerry Dunn who shot and killed Elliott in Chicago, after three ballots, reached a verdict of not guilty. The prisoner was in the box, the coolest man in the room. The verdict was received with cheers.

Portions of Texas, Nebraska, and Wisconsin were visited by a cyclone which tore many houses from their foundations and caused serious damage to property. In Nebraska a woman and two children were fatally injured. At Racine, Wis., forty houses were destroyed and four persons killed.

One hundred policemen on horseback wheeled into Madison square precisely at 12 o'clock. They formed in double ranks in front of the Fifth Avenue hotel, and stood motionless as the 7th regiment, amid a burst of hand-clapping and hearty cheers, swept past the hotel.

Three drums rolled in unison and the band played the inevitable "Hail to the Chief" as the detachment of 250 assigned as a guard to the President's party broke into the main line, and turning with the precision of clockwork, swept into West Twenty-third street. Here the soldiery formed in double ranks, and as the carriages for President Arthur's party drew into line beside the hotel entrance, drew their rifles to order arms with a sound like the simultaneous firing of a regiment of musketeers.

With the President were Secretaries Frelinghuysen and Folger and Trustee John T. Agnew, Secretary Chandler and Postmaster-General Gresham, Attorney-General Brewster and Chief Justice A. Addison.

There came in carriages—Marshall McMichael, Mr. Allan Arthur, Mr. J. A. Bush, Mr. Miller, Mr. Rollins, Mr. Cooper, Mr. Phillips, Governor Cleveland, General Schum, Mr. A. S. Hewitt, the mayor of the city, General Campbell, Mr. Macdonald, Governor Ludlow, of New Jersey; ex-Governor Fairbanks, of Vermont; General W. S. Crozier, Mr. Jenkins, Van Schaick, Governor Littlefield, of Rhode Island; Mr. Henry, of New Jersey; Mr. Henry, of New Jersey; Mr. Henry, of New Jersey.

Leaving the hotel the procession passed down Fifth Avenue to Fourteenth street, where it turned right on Union Square. The streets were lined with people and every step and balcony was filled with sight-seers. Reaching Union Square the procession turned down the street, where it passed the great dome of the city hall.

It was just 1:30 when the procession reached the place in front of the city hall, and as the mounted police turned into the open space the immense crowds surged forward and backward and there was an amount of struggling and pushing to get a good view of the procession.

The Alderman and the city officials marched to the place in front of the city hall, where they were met by the Mayor. The Mayor's marshal carried the flag bearing the city arms and the Alderman carried their staves of office.

The only Alderman who refused to take part in the exercises was Alderman Edward T. Fitzpatrick, from the Fourth Assembly District. He made a speech in the board at a recent meeting assailing the trustees for not having the opening of the bridge on some other day than the birthday of Queen Victoria.

President Arthur was received with cheers and he bowed his acknowledgments.

The procession, escorted by the 7th regiment, passed to the New York approach. At this point the batteries of the Navy Yard and Governor's Island opened and these were followed by the guns of the fort.

At the Brooklyn approach the guests were met by the 23d regiment, and the 7th returned to its armory.

The guests were escorted to the bridge building. Mr. Stranahan called on Vice President Kingsley to make the presentation address, and a storm of applause arose. Mr. Kingsley, as the official agent of the Board of Trustees of the bridge, formally to the Chief Magistrate of the two cities that the bridge was ready to be opened for public use, and subject in its control and management only to such restrictions as the people to whom it belongs, may choose to impose upon themselves. He spoke of the work of the late John A. Roebling as engineer, and of his son, Colonel W. A. Roebling, the present engineer, to whom he bequeathed the bridge, and of the other who lost his life during the progress of the work. He said the people owed a debt of gratitude.

Mayor Low made the speech accepting the bridge on behalf of Brooklyn. Science had said the work was possible. Courage had said, "It shall be," and today a city which had about 60,000 people when the bridge began, but now had 600,000 population, welcomed with enthusiasm the wonderful creation of genius. Mr. Low spoke of the debt of gratitude due to the workmen and those who had lost their lives in the progress of the work.

He said it had seemed as if the population of the two cities had been brought down to the river bank each day to be taught patience, and after three many years patience had had her perfect work. The development of the bridge had not belittled but enlarged New York, and Brooklyn will not grow at New York's expense, but both will be advanced.

"The Brooklyn of 1800," he said, "can hardly be guessed at from the city of today."

Mayor Edison accepted the bridge for New York city, saying, "We believe that what has thus been joined together shall never be put asunder." Contemplating the possibilities of the next twenty-five years, he asked: "Will the two cities be consolidated? Will the duty of self-government be conceded to them? Will the progress of improvement and the preparations for commerce,

THE BIG BRIDGE OPEN.

Two Cities Join in Making a Marriage.

On May 24th the great bridge connecting New York and Brooklyn, that has been building since 1870, was fully completed and opened to the public. The occasion was one of much interest.

New York and Brooklyn vied with each other in the celebration of the occasion. Both cities were filled with spectators, and the event was a grand display of fireworks.

One hundred policemen on horseback wheeled into Madison square precisely at 12 o'clock. They formed in double ranks in front of the Fifth Avenue hotel, and stood motionless as the 7th regiment, amid a burst of hand-clapping and hearty cheers, swept past the hotel.

Three drums rolled in unison and the band played the inevitable "Hail to the Chief" as the detachment of 250 assigned as a guard to the President's party broke into the main line, and turning with the precision of clockwork, swept into West Twenty-third street. Here the soldiery formed in double ranks, and as the carriages for President Arthur's party drew into line beside the hotel entrance, drew their rifles to order arms with a sound like the simultaneous firing of a regiment of musketeers.

With the President were Secretaries Frelinghuysen and Folger and Trustee John T. Agnew, Secretary Chandler and Postmaster-General Gresham, Attorney-General Brewster and Chief Justice A. Addison.

There came in carriages—Marshall McMichael, Mr. Allan Arthur, Mr. J. A. Bush, Mr. Miller, Mr. Rollins, Mr. Cooper, Mr. Phillips, Governor Cleveland, General Schum, Mr. A. S. Hewitt, the mayor of the city, General Campbell, Mr. Macdonald, Governor Ludlow, of New Jersey; ex-Governor Fairbanks, of Vermont; General W. S. Crozier, Mr. Jenkins, Van Schaick, Governor Littlefield, of Rhode Island; Mr. Henry, of New Jersey; Mr. Henry, of New Jersey; Mr. Henry, of New Jersey.

Leaving the hotel the procession passed down Fifth Avenue to Fourteenth street, where it turned right on Union Square. The streets were lined with people and every step and balcony was filled with sight-seers. Reaching Union Square the procession turned down the street, where it passed the great dome of the city hall.

It was just 1:30 when the procession reached the place in front of the city hall, and as the mounted police turned into the open space the immense crowds surged forward and backward and there was an amount of struggling and pushing to get a good view of the procession.

The Alderman and the city officials marched to the place in front of the city hall, where they were met by the Mayor. The Mayor's marshal carried the flag bearing the city arms and the Alderman carried their staves of office.

The only Alderman who refused to take part in the exercises was Alderman Edward T. Fitzpatrick, from the Fourth Assembly District. He made a speech in the board at a recent meeting assailing the trustees for not having the opening of the bridge on some other day than the birthday of Queen Victoria.

President Arthur was received with cheers and he bowed his acknowledgments.

The procession, escorted by the 7th regiment, passed to the New York approach. At this point the batteries of the Navy Yard and Governor's Island opened and these were followed by the guns of the fort.

At the Brooklyn approach the guests were met by the 23d regiment, and the 7th returned to its armory.

The guests were escorted to the bridge building. Mr. Stranahan called on Vice President Kingsley to make the presentation address, and a storm of applause arose. Mr. Kingsley, as the official agent of the Board of Trustees of the bridge, formally to the Chief Magistrate of the two cities that the bridge was ready to be opened for public use, and subject in its control and management only to such restrictions as the people to whom it belongs, may choose to impose upon themselves. He spoke of the work of the late John A. Roebling as engineer, and of his son, Colonel W. A. Roebling, the present engineer, to whom he bequeathed the bridge, and of the other who lost his life during the progress of the work. He said the people owed a debt of gratitude.

Mayor Low made the speech accepting the bridge on behalf of Brooklyn. Science had said the work was possible. Courage had said, "It shall be," and today a city which had about 60,000 people when the bridge began, but now had 600,000 population, welcomed with enthusiasm the wonderful creation of genius. Mr. Low spoke of the debt of gratitude due to the workmen and those who had lost their lives in the progress of the work.

He said it had seemed as if the population of the two cities had been brought down to the river bank each day to be taught patience, and after three many years patience had had her perfect work. The development of the bridge had not belittled but enlarged New York, and Brooklyn will not grow at New York's expense, but both will be advanced.

"The Brooklyn of 1800," he said, "can hardly be guessed at from the city of today."

Mayor Edison accepted the bridge for New York city, saying, "We believe that what has thus been joined

